This month I wanted to update everyone on Iowa's Hands-Free Driving law. The following is a list of things you cannot do while driving:

- Hold your phone in any way
- Manually scroll, type, or interact with your phone in any way
- Enter in an address to GPS while driving
- Stream videos or make video calls, even with voice commands
- View texts, videos, or social media
- Call, text, or dial unless using hands-free or voice activation

What counts as an "electronic device" includes cell phones, laptops, PDAs. Tablets, and gaming devices.

You can use voice-activated systems, Bluetooth, or speakerphone. If it is urgent, you can pull over to the side of the road to complete the call or message.
